

GAIP Welcomes Peak Re as Principal Partner to Advance Efforts on Asia's Protection Gap

The Global Asia Insurance Partnership (GAIP) has announced a strategic partnership with Peak Re, which joins the tripartite platform as a Principal Partner.

SINGAPORE, SINGAPORE, October 15, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Global

Asia Insurance Partnership (GAIP) today announced that Peak Re has joined the Asia-focused, neutral tripartite platform as a Principal Partner, reinforcing its commitment to addressing protection gaps and strengthening resilience against emerging risks across Asia and beyond. Through this partnership, Peak Re will collaborate with a diverse network of partners consisting of industry players, regulators, academia, insurance associations and international bodies, such as the Monetary Authority of Singapore and World Economic Forum, amongst others.

Headquartered in Hong Kong, Peak Re is an Asia-based global reinsurer with an international network serving 550 cedents across 63 markets. It ranks 28th among reinsurance groups in terms of net reinsurance premiums written. Peak Re's vision is to create lasting, positive impacts through modernising reinsurance and supporting insurers to address the protection needs of middle-class communities in Asia and beyond.

"We are excited to have the opportunity to join GAIP as a Principal Partner. GAIP's objectives closely align with Peak Re's commitment to strengthening long-term resilience and helping communities across Asia manage emerging risks. By contributing our reinsurance expertise and regional perspectives, we look forward to working with GAIP and its partners to advance practical solutions that help close Asia's protection gap," said Victor Kuk, Chief Executive Officer of Peak Re.

"Peak Re brings a unique understanding of both local and global insurance markets that will enrich our collective understanding of an increasingly complex risk landscape. Their reinsurance expertise and diverse perspectives complement GAIP's strengths, and we're confident that this partnership will generate impactful insights that translate into practical action for the industry and society. We are excited to welcome Peak Re to our growing network of partners and look forward to advancing our shared commitment to building greater resilience across Asia and beyond," said Min Hung Cheng, Chief Executive Officer of GAIP.

As a Principal Partner, Peak Re will contribute to shaping perspectives on the pressing risk challenges facing the region, and engage with GAIP through its working groups, dialogues, and collaborative initiatives. This includes access to GAIP research, tools, and workshops to deepen understanding of key and emerging risks, participation in multi-stakeholder dialogue platforms, and opportunities to exchange insights.

Through this partnership, GAIP and Peak Re aim to deepen cross-sector knowledge exchange and support practical, evidence-based approaches to the risks affecting people, communities and economies across Asia.
