

CASAMONTE Brings Virginia Casado Polo's Art to Wall-Scale Murals

Alegria Infinita and Florero Pecera translate the artist's expressive figures and botanical imagery into immersive interior compositions.

FORT LAUDERDALE, FL, UNITED STATES, October 19, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- CASAMONTE is showcasing the expressive range of its Virginia Casado Polo collection through two mural designs, Alegria Infinita and Florero Pecera. The works bring the artist's figurative and botanical imagery to an architectural scale, offering distinct approaches to making art part of an interior.

Virginia Casado Polo is an Argentine-born, Miami-based artist whose work uses organic forms, color and symbolic compositions. Her collection for CASAMONTE carries that visual language beyond the dimensions of a conventional framed piece, placing the composition in direct relationship with the surrounding room.

Alegria Infinita centers on figures and a sense of shared movement. Its composition includes moments of play, stillness and connection, presenting joy through a varied cast of forms. The mural's character comes from the interaction among these elements, making the placement of the overall scene an important part of planning.

Florero Pecera follows a different path. A vase, fluid shapes and botanical elements create a composition that moves between the familiar and the imagined. The design's blue tones and floral imagery offer another expression of the artist's interest in everyday forms transformed through color and gesture.

Seen together, the two murals demonstrate the breadth of the collection. One draws attention to human connection and lively figures; the other builds its atmosphere through a botanical subject. In both, the wall becomes a setting for a complete artwork rather than simply a background for furnishings.

CASAMONTE's collection also groups designs within themes including Joyful Worlds, Nature Fantasy and Endless Spring. Designers can use the collection imagery to explore the artist's work before discussing the requirements of a specific room with the studio.

Mural selection requires attention to wall dimensions, openings and the position of important visual elements. CASAMONTE provides project assistance so that customers can discuss composition, available product formats and the relationship between the artwork and the proposed installation area before ordering.

The Virginia Casado Polo collection and individual mural details are available through CASAMONTE's website. Catalog room renderings illustrate possible applications; final artwork placement and product specifications are established for the selected design and project.
