

Buyers Two Free Nights at Its Joshua Tree Airbnb

New site showcases DezResto's High Desert home restorations and real estate, and pairs a free two-night stay with buyer representation across the High Desert

JOSHUA TREE, CA, UNITED STATES, October 29, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- DezResto, a High Desert home restoration and real estate business led by Stephen Samojeden, today announced the launch of its new website, dezresto.com, and a new offer for qualified home buyers: two free nights at DezResto's Luna Mesa Base Camp Airbnb while touring homes with the company.

DezResto restores homes, cabins, and even vintage trailers across Joshua Tree, Yucca Valley, Landers, and the surrounding High Desert, then connects buyers and sellers with real estate services through the company's affiliation with Joshua Tree Modern. The new site's Desert Restorations page showcases completed work including the Desert Gold Bungalow, Kickapoo Trail Cabin, Desert View Retreat, and a garage-to-home conversion on Greasewood Lane, alongside vintage finds such as a fully restored 2003 Airstream Sovereign and a 1948 teardrop trailer. The two-free-nights offer is open to buyers who are pre-qualified and sign a buyer representation agreement with DezResto. It is designed to make it easier for out-of-town buyers to see Joshua Tree, Yucca Valley, and surrounding desert communities in person before they commit to a purchase. Additional terms apply.

"The High Desert has a way of taking something forgotten and making it worth a second look — an old cabin, a vintage trailer, a garage no one's used in years. That's the work I love, and now there's one place to see all of it alongside the homes we have available."
